Five-Star Hotel in the Historic Village of Castelfalfi in Tuscany Reopens

By Iana Sheremetieva

Toscana Resort Castelfalfi is a 151-room luxury hotel located in the historic village of Castelfalfi in Tuscany, Italy. The luxury estate softly reopened under new ownership this summer and invites guests to discover and experience its new contemporary aesthetic, as well as updated guest rooms, guest experiences, etc. Castelfalfi's onsite vineyard, which is responsible for producing all the property's wine and award-winning olive oil, has been revamped.

The Hotel of Toscana Resort Castelfalfi includes a modern, CasaClima-certified building and a historic tobacco warehouse. The breathtaking Tuscan hills surrounding the resort provide a truly unique setting. Vineyards, olive groves and woodlands boast an eternal beauty that's ever-changing with the passing of the seasons.

The estate boasts a 27-hole golf course, which is the largest and most challenging in the region. It is divided into two spectacular courses that promise an enjoyable experience to both passionate beginners and expert players. The Golf Club Castelfalfi makes use of the recovery of rainwater for irrigation and implemented some eco-friendly maintenance techniques. For this initiative, it has received the GEO Certified™ eco-label, an international guarantee of high-quality sport.

In celebration of the reopening, Castelfalfi has prepared over 40 new, unique guest excursions including wine tours & tastings, olive picking, oil & cheese tasting, truffle hunting, beekeeping, cooking classes, and more experiences steeped in Tuscan culture. The estate also launched the “Castelfalfi Adventure Park”, where guests can take part in archery, survival courses, tree climbing, and more.

Rates at Toscana Resort Castelfalfi start at $500 USD/night.
